III. SUPPLEMENTAL OUTREACH INITIATIVES

Date(s) of Initiative Event(s): December 1, 2017 to November 30, 2018

Describe Nature of Initiative:

Training-Provision of training to personnel of unaffiliated non-profit organizations interested in broadcast employment opportunities that would enable them to better refer job candidates for broadcast positions

Describe Scope of Broadcasters' Participation (including names of any other sponsoring or participating organizations):

WTOC partnered with the US Army's Training With Industry Program which is a cooperative arrangement between the Army and related civilian industries in order to train US Army officers in the management level. The Army Captains we had during this period were in the information outreach (special operations, stationed at Fort Bragg, NC). They observed and participated in station management meetings, sales presentations, marketing hands-on, news, effectively all aspects of a commercial TV station's operations.

The Army's Training With Industry (TWI) Program was initiated in response to the Army's critical need for officers with state-of-the-art skills in industrial practices and procedures not available through military or civil education programs. The TWI Program includes training programs which support marketing, public affairs, artificial intelligence, physical security and finance.

Once the TWI student is integrated back into an Army organization, they can use this information to improve the Army's ability to interact and conduct business with the relative industry. Participants are also exposed to innovative industrial techniques, procedures, etc., which have applicability to, and benefit for, the Army.

As a Psychological Operations Officer working within the television broadcast industry, the officer prepares for broadcast operations and marketing for any number of projects and missions that support forward deployed PSYOP operators conducting Military Information Support Operations. The main purpose of a PSYOP operator is to disseminate information to change behavior in an effort to produce the most conducive environment for either military or diplomatic operations. This can vary from promoting community outreach programs in a foreign nation to informing the host nation civilians where to go for humanitarian assistance. Working with WTOC gives the officer an insight on producing audio video products as well as marketing ideas and information.

Military Liaisons at WTOC have become an essential part of the WTOC working environment editing shows and commercials, filling traffic logs and other administrative tasks.

Describe Nature of Initiative:

WTOC Tours to Elementary, Middle and High School Students

Describe Scope of Broadcasters' Participation (including names of any other sponsoring or participating organizations):

In-depth tours of the station were given to various school groups during the year. These included meteorology and science classes, Boy Scouts and broadcasting and journalism classes. Some tours included a weather lesson from Meteorologist Dave Turley and Forecaster Cutter Martin on hurricanes and other weather related issues. Other tours included a brief history of the station, a walkthrough of the station showing students the step by step process of how a newscast is put together. Steps shown included the newsroom where pre-production takes place. They were told what the reporters, producers, photographers and Assignment Editor do each day. The students were also shown where special news reports and teases are shot. Also, where the photographers and reporters edit their packages. To make it interactive, the tour guide asked the students different things about the news business. One question included how WTOC receives their news each day. The students were also asked about how the station makes their money. The Tour guide showed the students where commercials were edited, the Master Control Room. Studio Control and the studio. Another interaction included the students reading from the teleprompter and doing pretend weather forecasts on the Chroma Key Wall. Some of the students actually did a newscast for their own broadcasting student news. Each tour ended with the students watching a live newscast that included all the components discussed. The students did ask about careers in broadcasting and what they need to be a broadcaster.
